JUNIOR CHAMBER NAMES OFFICERS; ADOPTS BY-LAWS MONDAY EVENING

Thirty-five Pay Dues At Second Meeting Of New Civic Group

Provisional chairman for the new organization since its formation several weeks ago, Sam Kerns was elected president of the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce Monday night at the second meeting of the civic group, held at the I. O. O. F. hall, Niles. Other officers elected are: Alfred Lanfri, vice-president; Paul Donovan, secretary; Will Cavanaugh, treasurer. Members of the board of directors are: Addison Richmond, Louis DiGuilio, J. Viverios, Arthur Roderick and Reynaldo Cozzi.

With a total attendance of forty-seven young Niles men, the meeting gave indication of a large and active group within a few weeks. Thirty-five members paid their quarterly dues, and were given their membership cards.

After listening to letters of congratulation and encouragement from junior chambers in the larger cities, the group heard and approved the by-laws. A number of minor points were adjusted by discussion. It was decided to hold the charter open until January 1 in order that all who wish to do so, may be included in the original membership list.

J. J. Amaral, county junior chamber president, and Andrew Jorgensen, Pleasanton junior chamber head, attended the meeting and assisted in details of the election. Both spoke, voicing their pleasure at seeing the Niles group get off to such a solid start. Clyde Potvin, a director of the Pleasanton organization, also spoke.

Following the election of officers, and brief talks by the new officers, President Kerns discharged the original membership committee with his thanks and appointed the following to contact prospective members before the next meet: B. Briochi, Alfred King, Fulton Cesari, Charles Champion, J. Avilla, George Bertel, L. Denton and Hugh Holden. Frank Ferry was named temporary publicity man.

A vote of thanks was given to Lawrence Bonturi, Henry Rego and Joe Viverios for furnishing the coffee, beans and doughnuts.

It was voted that new business ventures here, started by J. Champion, E. H. Frick and F. Moore, be given the good wishes and felecitations of the new group.

CHRISTMAS OPERETTA TOMORROW AFTERNOON AT GRAMMAR SCHOOL

Current Term Will End With Colorful Play By Upper Grades

Tomorrow afternoon will see the close of the current term at the Niles grammar school, with the staging of "Santa Claus," a Christmas operetta, to be enacted by students of the sixth and seventh grades under the direction of Miss Mildred Bennett. The public performance will begin at 2:30 p. m. School pupils will see the play at an earlier hour.

The play, to be put on by well-trained children depicts the story of two children who stay at home with their old toys. The new toys come to visit them on Christmas Eve.

Betty and Jimmy, the two children, are played by Lorraine Peterson and Lawrence Moise. Santa Claus will be George Bonde, the Jack-in-the-box Robert Vieux. Geneveive Andrade is the Fairy Fay.

Programs inviting the parents to attend were mailed this week, including a notice of the Parent-Teachers meeting to follow the play. All parents are urged to attend this final meet.

Music in the play is directed by Miss Bennett, with seventh and eighth grade singing directed by Miss Lurena Chenery.

MRS. MARIA BROWN OF WARM SPRINGS, DIES MONDAY

Mrs. Maria Brown, of Warm Springs, well known in that district died Monday night at the San Jose hospital after a period of illness. She was 59 years of age.

Active in community affairs at Warm Springs, Mrs. Brown will be missed by her numerous friends. She was a member of the Warm Springs council of the S. P. R. S. I. She was a native of the Azores.

She is survived by her husband, Antonio Brown, and two sons, Antonio Brown, Jr., and Edwin Sarmento.

Funeral services were yesterday morning from the Chapel of Palms, Centerville, with services at the St. Joseph's church, Mission San Jose at 9:30 o'clock. Interment was in the Holy Ghost cemetery at Centerville.

JOHN CAHILL, 68, PASSES LAST WEEK AT HOME IN NILES

Long Illness Ends For Pioneer Resident Wednesday

Many months of illness, after a life of kindness and service, ended in death last Wednesday afternoon for John Cahill, 68, a native of Alameda county and longtime resident of Niles. Cahill passed away at his home here. He had been gradually sinking.

Born in San Leandro in 1867, Cahill came to Niles shortly after the turn of the century. He was named custodian of the Niles Grammar school building and grounds several years later, and served in that capacity until illness forced him to retire several years ago. Patient and kindly, Cahill was admired and liked by the hundreds of school children who passed from grade to grade while he served at the school. In charge of the children in the basement during rainy weather, Cahill kept order and directed games. It was one of his characteristic warnings, to issue ultimatums to small boys riding bicycles in the basement. He kept a wary eye on all.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Belle Cahill; a daughter, Ione Cahill, San Bruno school teacher, and two sons, William and John, Jr. All are well known in this district. A brother, George Cahill, also survives.

Funeral services were held at the home on Second street Friday, with the Rev. Father Emmet O'Connor officiating. Following blessings at the Corpus Christi Church, the funeral proceeded to Hayward. Interment was in the Holy Sepulchre cemetery there.

NEW CONSTRUCTION HERE POINTS TO BUSY ERA

Pre-depression days, when hammers rang to new construction, have returned to Niles with the remodeling of two business houses and the building of a new enterprise, the latter to be a Texaco gas station at the corner of First and "G" streets.

On Eye street, Frank Duarte, builder, is busy with the remodeling of J. A. Silva's building next to the post office, to house a hardware and plumbing business run by E. H. Frick, of Newark. The structure, moved from the corner of First and Eye streets when the new Silva building was constructed, has been empty for many months. In addition to the remodeling, Silva is building two storerooms for the use of businesses in his First street building.

F. Moore, of Niles, who recently undertook to clean up the lot next to the Niles New Drug store with an eye to future construction, has renovated the old garage on the property and moved a house that formerly faced on First street to the back of the lot. The vacant lot may have a new building on it soon, Moore said.

Joe Champion, after purchasing the corner of the old Essanay lot at First and "G" streets from Ed. Rose, is hurrying with construction of a new service station, to be open for business before January 1. Texaco Oil Company officials, whose products Champion will handle, declared that the new station will be one of the best in the east bay. It will be developed into a super service station later. Champion, assisted by his son, Charles Champion, is doing the construction work.

INJURIES FATAL TO MEMBER OF PIONEER FAMILY

Cornelius Driscoll Dies At Hospital After Crash Dec. 5

Injured on December 5 when his car crashed into a bakery truck driven by Robert Ruff, of Hayward, Cornelius T. Driscoll, member of a pioneer Washington township family, died Saturday at the San Jose hospital. The accident occurred at the intersection of Cherry and Central avenues, south of Newark.

Driscoll, who suffered a broken back, was rushed to a Centerville physician and later taken to the San Jose hospital. All efforts to save his life were futile.

The deceased, who is survived by a sister, was born in the hill section south of Mission San Jose. His parents came to Washington township previous to 1870.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the St. Joseph's church, Mission San Jose, with the Rev. Father John Leal officiating. Interment was in the St. Joseph's cemetery at Mission San Jose.

Inquest will be held tomorrow in San Jose.

WILLIAM JONES IS WED TO PIEDMONT GIRL LAST WEEK

News was received here last week of the marriage of William Jones, formerly of Niles, to Miss Frances Drummond Wilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilde, of Piedmont. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents. Relatives and close friends attended.

Mrs. Jones, a popular member of the east bay younger set, is a graduate of the University of California, where she was a member of the Alpha Xi Delta sorority. She was attended at the wedding by Miss Alice Jensen. Emil Mark was best man.

Jones, for five years with the Shuckle's cannery as manager at Niles, and now with the company at Sunnyvale, is well-known here. He is also a University of California graduate, and affiliated with the Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity.

The couple plan to make their home in Sunnyvale.

PLANS FOR COMING YEAR HEARD BY TOYON BRANCH

Meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Miss Mildred Nauert, at Alvarado, members of the Toyon Branch of the Children's Hospital heard reports of plans for the new year from other branches, as well as their own. Mrs. H. Oliver president of the county organization, who was to attend, was unable to be at the meet because of illness.

The group was busied at the gathering with a discussion of plans, including the broom sale, under way at present. Reports were given on sales to date, and a report was made on work during the past year.

It was decided that the next meeting will be in the nature of a house warming for Mrs. J. E. Townsend, longtime member, at her new home in Campbell, where the Townsends will move soon.

An invitational card party, to be held sometime during the week between Christmas and the New Year, at the home of Mrs. J. C. Shinn, will be the next activity of the local branch.

WATER RELEASE IS ASKED BY LOCAL WATER OFFICIALS

Board Asks Additional Water Flow From Calaveras Dam

Renewing their application made last spring for an advance of water from the Alameda creek watershed, members of the Alameda County Water District board of directors have petitioned the San Francisco Public Utilities Commission for surplus water amounting to 15,000 acre feet, to be released at once.

The district informed the San Francisco commission that it will forego the annual release entitled it by the award of 1920, at any time the city of San Francisco shall demand. This in payment for the water asked at present.

Declaring that the underground water supply here is low and that grave danger exists from an incursion of salt water, the board urged the city to give the petition immediate attention. Inasmuch as San Francisco is at present receiving a surplus above its daily needs from Hetch Hetchy, and is unable to use full measure from the Calaveras reservoir, the board of the water district here feels that the local area should benefit. The natural water supply of southern Alameda county has for forty years been diverted for use in San Francisco, the petition pointed out.

Stating that the people of this district cooperated with San Francisco in the fight for Hetch Hetchy rights in congress in 1912, the petition ended with a plea that the city now save the water level here, and insure the south county's participation in future bay region development.

STONYBROOK ROAD INPROVEMENT UNDER WAY

A scenic drive, over a road that has heretofore been almost impassable, will be open to motorists soon, when work is completed on the Stonybrook-Palomares canyon roads joining Niles and Dublin canyons.

Supervisors of the south county and Hayward district have secured SERA labor, and work is going on at the present time.

When completed, the new road will be of ample width in many places for two cars to pass. It will be leveled in places and a number of the sharper turns modified.

Paralleling the hills from the Stonybrook-Niles Canyon junction the new road will offer the motorist a new and unusual trip.

ARRAIGNMENT FOR KNIFE WIELDERS HERE TOMORROW

Charged with assault by A. Gonzalves, whom they attempted to stab in a street brawl at Alvarado last Wednesday night, Carmen and H. Sandoval, brother and sister, will be arraigned tomorrow afternoon before Judge J. A. Silva at the Niles justice court.

Constable O. W. Ebright, who made the arrests, stated that the cause of the rumpus was not clear, but that the Sandovals had attacked Gonzalves. The latter suffered knife slashes, severe enough to send him to an Oakland hospital, where he is recovering.

The attackers were taken to the county jail, pending investigation.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

By NORMAN H. PARKS, Publisher Register

HEARST'S REAL FEAR SUSPECTED

"We recognized Russia. Now it is just as well to recognize what we have recognized."

Such are the opening sentences of a front-page editorial in the San Francisco Examiner over the signature of William Randolph Hearst.

Executions by the Soviet government of an alleged number of 200 conspirators against its authority, was the excuse of the newspaper collossus for a new attack upon the Communist regime of Old Russia. We draw the conclusion that it has now been proven a crime to have resumed diplomatic relations with the Russian republic because of reported wholesale executions of those planning the overthrow of that government, and reasonably enough the return of the Romonoffs.

While it may be presumptious upon the part of an editor of a weekly paper of no consequence to assail the correct reasoning of so mighty a publisher as Hearst, nevertheless we do question both the sense of his deductions and the sincerity of his fear that in America there is even the slightest likelihood of Communism, as understood in Russia, being embraced by even a very small minority of our people.

* * *

We carried on diplomatic relations with Czarist Russia for over a hundred years without conscientious scruples. And during the past generation, up until the Czar and his family were executed, neither William Randolph Hearst nor other wealthy publishers or civic or industrial leaders, expressed any regret for diplomatically clasping the hand of wholesale murderers. Why, then, is "it just as well to recognize what we have recognized." Certainly we Americans should not became squeamish because the Soviet regime sees fit to murder its enemies. For a thousand years the czars murdered, not hundreds, every year, but hundreds of thousands, who, regardless of the cruel and sure punishment known to be waiting those who rebelled against tyranny, yet lifted up their voices against despotism, and died the martyrs that they were, so one day Russia might be free.

Then the Hearst line of reasoning here is ridiculous.

He proceeds with his fulmination of Stalin along the same absurd lines. The drift of his effort seems to be that an American known to harbor Communistic ideas should be branded a traitor, expelled from the country or hung instanter.

* * *

The true facts of the political ideas he is discussing are these: He would brand as Communism, any economic plan that might even slightly affect his great fortune or lessen his great power, as wielded not only by him personally, but by and through his brilliant writers and countless newspaper properties.

A heavy income tax, to Hearst, is Communism. An old age pension, if excessive wealth paid the bill, would be Communism. A proposition to limit the amount of money any one man might possess, most certainly, to a man like Hearst, would be the real Stalin brand of "Red" ideas in America.

That is just it.

Neither Hearst nor his capitalistic colleagues have the slightest fear that in the United States there will ever come a form of government like that of Russia today. It is unthinkable. It is impossible. What may come, after years of agitation, is a decided curb on wealth. Wealth may be put in its place. The massing of millions may be outlawed, that no man possess power too great for the general good of mankind.

* * *

The fear of reasonable regulation has moved Hearst and other financial interests in California, and in every state in the union, to war upon any man who may even moderately question the divine right of dollars to rule. Anyone suspected of advocating a serious departure from the theory that man can possess all that he can get, and possess

Must Use Care in Storing Potatoes

Poor Condition of Tubers May Lead to Loss and Disappointment.

By Prof. Ora Smith, New York State College of Agriculture.—WNU Service.

A poor storage place may completely ruin a crop of first-class potatoes, but the best storage will not make unsound potatoes into marketable ones. To store wet or muddy, unripe, badly-bruised, cut, skinned, diseased, frosted, or otherwise unsound tubers, leads to loss and disappointment. Both moisture and temperature can be controlled by ventilation in a properly constructed storage.

Growers of potatoes in New York state suffer greater losses from high temperatures than from freezing. A storage temperature between 36 and 40 degrees Fahrenheit is recommended as the best for potatoes. Below 36 degrees the tubers develop a sweet taste which is undesirable in market stock but does not injure the seed stock. Potatoes will not freeze at temperatures above 32 degrees. They sprout at about 40 degrees.

When first placed in storage, potatoes should have all possible ventilation as long as there is no danger of freezing. This ventilation lowers the temperature and helps to remove the moisture brought in from the field and also that given off by the tubers in curing. If this moisture is not removed, the pile sweats, and rots often develop. Enough ventilation should be provided during the winter to keep the potatoes dry.

Probabilities Never Wrong

The quotation from Aristotle to the effect that probabilities are never wrong is a translation of the Greek which is practically as follows: "In regard to the confirmation of evidence and the law of probabilities, when a man has no witnesses he can say that the decision should be given in accordance with probabilities and that this is the meaning of the oath according to the best of one's judgment. For . . . probabilities cannot be bribed to deceive and neither can they be convicted of bearing false witness."

Three Point Two

By THAYER WALDO

© by McClure Newspaper Syndicate. WNU Service

THEY started up the long walk, Morris between Horowitz and Gould. Behind them, below the hill upon which the house stood, was a million-eyed winking vista—Hollywood.

Suddenly Morris halted. He stole a quick sidewise glance at Gould, made a throat-clearing noise, and said: "Say, listen; maybe we oughtn't to gang in on him like this without warning. Suppose he's—well, that he doesn't want visitors tonight. You know what I mean."

Gould puffed out his breath impatiently. Horowitz pointed toward the house ahead, demanding:

"Look—does a guy mek priwate phenaglings wit' de sheds opp end all do light on, once? Besides, who ever hoid of S. J. fooling arond, hah?"

"You're talking," Morris persisted, "about when his wife's here. What he'll do with her gone to Europe for six months is something else, maybe."

As they moved on, mounting ten steps to the broad veranda, Gould stated with finality:

"Well, however that may be, it doesn't appear that he's cutting any didos this evening."

Just then the row of windows to their right went dark. Morris drew back as if encountering high voltage.

"There!" he gutturaled. "What does that look like? Let's beat it!" Over his head Horowitz and Gould exchanged glances of amused contempt, Horowitz punched the bell button. Morris groaned slightly, muttered:

"Jeez, you birds got a crust! Why, S. J.'ll probably fire all of us for this."

An overhead lantern lit up and the door opened on a tall thin fellow in cutaway and wing collar.

"Ah, good evening, Graves," said Gould. "Is Mr. Faroges at home?"

"Uh—no, sir, he's not." The butler seemed ill at ease. Looking past him into the room still illumined, Gould saw a tea wagon that held bottles, glasses, and what looked like a plate of small cakes. He stepped forward, deftly crowding aside the reluctant Graves.

"Quite all right. I see you're expecting him back shortly. We'll wait. Come along, Jake—Frank."

Curiosity conquered Morris' hesitance. He sidled around to get a look inside. When he saw what Gould had seen, he muttered something, shook his head once more, then scudded in behind the other two.

"Come on—let's blow," he urged; "the old boy's liable to pop in any minute now and catch us here."

"Catch us!" Gould's echo was an explosion of scorn. "Say, that's certainly rare! I thought it was rather the other way around. And I've decided not to leave. I'll stay and when he comes I'll denounce him as he deserves to be denounced. Think of his poor, trusting wife, only two days on her way and with never a suspicion that he's a moral leper!"

"Vell, I dun't knowing so much abot dis moral leopard stuff, but I got it a idea: Here's our chance to pot de screws on S. J. end mek sure from vhat ve hoped ve could talk him into tonight—ain't it?"

A thin smile creased the other's mouth.

"Jake, either you're smart, too, or good at mental telepathy. That's one of the chief reasons I'm staying. A man like that should be made to pay."

Gould put on his most impressive manner.

"Now, see here, Frank," he commenced; "we're three decently married men ourselves and—"

There were steps on the porch outside; a key scraped into the lock. Norris reached up and clutched Gould's shoulder.

"Listen!" he begged in a swift whisper. "There he comes! Let's run for it and get out the back way."

Without reply, Gould jerked free and dropped hastily into a chair, assuming a careless pose.

From the vestibule sounded chatting voices as the outer door closed. They came nearer; one masculine, one not. Two figures appeared in the archway, and stopped short. A split second of dead silence, then Gould sprang up and began loudly:

"Why, Mr. Faroges—really, I don't know what to say—I—"

The woman shrank back and in a choked voice cried:

"George—!"

Body gone suddenly rigid, Gould peered strickenly through the half shadows, gasped:

"Edna! What in God's name—?"

Again one instant of utter stillness. Faroges had turned his back to them all and stood motionless, with sagging shoulders. At last from the corner came Morris' sorrowful wail:

"See, I said you should have left. I couldn't tell you it was because your wife was with him, or you'd've smacked me. But I knew it; she told me about this date when I was out with her last night, and I just remembered it when we saw the lights go out."

May Try Desert Grass

If grasslands can survive for thousands of years on the edge of the Gobi desert in central Asia, despite severe drouths, heavy pasturing and wide variations in temperature, why should not grasses of the same species be helpful in rebuilding the depleted range lands of western United States? With this thought in view the United States Department of Agriculture is planning an Asiatic expedition to study conditions in the Gobi region and obtain specimens of grasses with which to experiment in western drouth-besieged territories.

Tar Treatment Is Urged for Sheep Having Grubs

Sheep that are suffering from grubs are not infested with worms, but the larval form of the sheep gad fly. The fly deposits eggs about the nostrils of the animals in the warm summer weather, and these work their way up through the nostrils to the sinus or spaces in the head Here they remain through the winter and drop out the next spring, pupate in the soil for a few weeks, and then hatch into flies, to repeat the egg-laying process the following summer. There is no practical treatment for removing these larvae grubs from the nostrils, once they are there, but something can be done to prevent the gad fly from laying her eggs on the sheep. This is accomplished by offering the flock a darkened place to retreat into during the hours of bright sunshine on summer days, and by smearing the nose with pine tar every three or four days. The tar can be applied with an old glove or by making a salt box with a lid in which holes about a foot apart and three inches in diameter have been bored. Smear the edges of the holes with tar and put salt in the box. As the sheep reach through for the salt, they smear the tar on their noses, and this has been found effective in repelling the flies which lay the eggs. —Wallaces' Farmer.

At the close to the business session there were dancing and refreshments.

Guests from San Farncisco, Oakland, Berkeley, Livermore, Hayward, San Leandro, as well as from local district lodges, attended.

B E. AMYX OPENED NURSERY SOUTH OF NILES ON DEC. 8

B. E. Amyx, experienced nurseryman, formerly with the Edenvale Nursery, has severed connections with that organization and opened his own sales garden and nursery establishment on the Mission highway south of Niles. Amyx began operations Saturday, after extensive preparations.

Stating that he felt the public could be served to better advantage by individual attention to their planting needs, Amyx will bring his twenty-five years' of experience with some of the west's largest nurseries into his business here. He was for fifteen years with the California Nursery Company both in the San Joaquin Valley and at Niles. From his experience here since 1925 he declares that the bay area persents greatest opportunitis for growth of a variety of plants.

A fruit tree and soil specialist, Amyx plans to carry excellent stock, as well as ornamentals and bedding plants. Of particular interest will be his service in cut flowers and floral designs. He is connected with one of the best growers of flowers in the eastbay, and states that his decorative floral work will be of the best.

Amyx emphasized the fact that his nursery will be strictly a local concern. In addition to his sales yard, he is preparing a tract in which to set out his complete stock.

MENS CLUB XMAS JINX AT LEGION BUILDING TONIGHT

Vets Preparing Banquet For Annual Yuletide Evening Of Fun

Reservations for the Men's Club annual Christmas Jinx, to be held at the Veteran's Memorial building tonight, have been pouring in to Secretary Barton Webb this week, when word was passed around that the program bids fair to be the best to date. Rumors of an outstanding banquet, to be prepared by Louis Ruschin and his assistants have added to the enthusiasm.

E. Dixon Bristow, club president, has stated that the program will have something of interest to everyone. A variety of acts have been arranged with the assistance of Howard Milholland, of radio fame. Milholland will be master of ceremonies.

Barton Webb, secretary, sent out letters to each member, telling of the program and urging attendance. Webb announced the following acts: Accordian, Al Capelli; Vibraharp, "Caro," Musical Comedy star, Bernadette; pianist, Eva Garcia; Magician, Lloyd Jones and "Nonsense or Nothing" by Fox and Fox, comedy team. Webb stated that there will be door prizes.

Assisting Ruschin with the dinner will be: Bob Vieux, Dale Carrithers and Marston Dassel.

Y.L.I. WHIST PARTY ATTRACTS MANY LAST WEEK

Sixty-one tables of whist at the I. O. O. F. hall Thursday night, made the annual Y. L. I. party, sponsored by the De Gaudalupe institute, one of the best to date, members declared this week.

The evening was a financial success, with a substantial sum being left after incidental expenses were paid.

Next on the calendar for the local intitute is the annual Christmas party, to be held for the members of the Junior Institute on he night of December 20. The evening is being planned and prepared by members of the senior group in charge of the younger girls.

ARTS, CRAFTS GUILD SELECTS OFFICERS TUESDAY NIGHT

Election of officers for the coming year was the main business transacted Tuesday night, when the Arts and Crafts Guild of Washington township held its regular meeting at the Congregational parsonage, Niles. Mrs. Ethel Grau was hostess.

Wesley Dexter Gordon and Mrs. Justine Adams, named director general and secreary when the group was formed several months ago, retained their posts. The following officers were added: vice director, Mrs. Norman H. Parks; treasurer, David A. Rees; historian, Mrs. Garret Norris; director at large, Mrs. E. B. Hodges, Mrs. Gladys Williamson was appointed publicity chairman.

Action on the formation of two new groups, one for short story writing and the other for photography, will be postponed until the first meeting in 1935, to be held at the Shinn home on January 8.

Eighteen members and guests, including several new members attended the meeting. In the work taken up was the reading of a number of poetic and prose works by members, including a short story by A. A. Hatch.

Mrs. Justine Adams gave a short talk on leather work, and exhibited several pieces done by Mrs. Fred Mitte. Mrs. Ethel Grau displayed two of her recent paintings.

The evening was concluded with three songs by Mrs. Wesley Gordon. She accompanied herself at the piano.

Cost Plus Profit Stressed At Farmers Union Canclave

Cost of production plus a reasonable profit for farmers was the keynote of the state convention of the National Farmers' Union, held Friday and Saturday at San Jose. The necessity of a home market for agriculture was stressed.

Edson Abel spoke on the California pro-rate law and what it has done to increase prices in many sections. C. D. Cavalero stressed the fact that the grower must get a living out of his produce. He stated that organization was useless unless this was realized. D. K. Stowe attacked the debt problem and spoke of debt adjustments.

New laws relating to different phases of indebtedness were discussed by Ben S. Allen, Federal district court conciliator. He declared that the courts were upholding the Frazier-Lemke amendment.

Saturday's session was taken up with committee reports, drafting of resolutions and discussion of pertinent problems. E. H. Everson, national union president, delivered the address of the day. He told the need of farm education to the value of cooperation. Legislation, both state and national was discussed and resolutions passed in regard to inspection of fruits, grading and trade practices.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Waldron, of Centerville, and Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Perry and Mrs. W. A. Sloan, of Irvington attended the convention.

FINAL MEETING FOR P.-T.A. TOMORROW AFTERNOON

Although the school term will end tomorrow, members of the Niles Parent Teachers Association stated this week that the drive for usable clothing for needy children will continue throughout the holiday season.

Stressing the gathering of garments during the past two weeks, the local group has accumulated a considerable amount. Not enough, however, to insure a warm winter for all, hence continuation of the drive. Mrs. C. M. Myrick, president, recently made application to the Red Cross for a number of garments to fill a need here.

All clothing is turned over to Miss Gertrude Keller, clothing chairman, for distribution in the various classes.

Although the drive is held at a certain time each year, members said that clothing is acceptable at any time.

The final meeting of the group for 1934 will be held tomorrow afternoon at the Niles grammar school following the Christmas play there. The local chapter postponed their regular meeting, which was to have been Tuesday until Friday. Details of business will be cleared up.

Right here is the answer to Christmas shopping

"Just what I wanted"—that is what you wish people to say about your Christmas gifts. And that is what they will say when you give electrical appliances. For no gifts better express the thoughtfulness of the giver at Christmastide—the season of thoughtful remembrance.

With the beauty of sparkling chromium or porcelain finishes, electric appliances have an immediate gladsome appeal. And in months and years to come they will bring joy, happiness, beauty, comfort and leisure to the gift getter.

This year electric appliances should be doubly acceptable. For not only do they bring added service and comfort into the home, but, in most cases they can serve at half cost on ½ Off EXTRA Electricity.

* * *

The answer is ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES GIVE DOUBLE VALUE THIS YEAR!

THERE are scores of gift ideas in the glittering array of electrical appliances now on display in all the stores. Most of them carry very modest price tags. In no other class of gift possibilities will you find greater value.

Choose among the many table appliances so ideal for preparing informal dinners or gay luncheons. This year the electric casserole, the sandwich grill, coffee maker, coffee urn set, automatic toaster and the waffle iron are very popular.

See the appliances that have a strong person-to-person appeal, such as an electric razor, curling iron, kitchen or boudoir clock, table radio or warming pad.

And with ½ Off EXTRA Electricity in effect, now is the time to really own an electric refrigerator, new washing machine and ironer, floor waxer, portable heater, electric range or dishwasher.

You'll be thrifty to buy these electric conveniences and comforts this Christmas. For you see they will help pay for themselves with half price electricity during the next twelve months.

JOSEPH MORRONE, 53, RANCHER, PASSES SATURDAY

Joseph Morrone, 53, for eleven years a rancher in the Centerville district, passed away Saturday.

He was a native of Italy, and had been in California for more than fifty years.

He is a brother of Mrs. Annie Cogine and Mrs. Mary Damico, both of this city.

Funeral was Monday from the Chapel of Palms, with services following at the Holy Ghost church. The Rev. Father A. DeSouza officiated. Interment was in the Holy Ghost cemetery.

ANNUAL WHIST

The altar boys of the Holy Ghost church will give their first annual whist at the Parish hall on the evening of December 21, it was learned this week.

The affair will be for the benefit of the church.

O. E. S. PAGEANT

The Orient Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star held their regular meeting last night at Centerville. A Christmas pageant was staged at the conclusion of other business.

JANUARY FOOD SALE PLANNED BY ST. JAMES GUILD

A food sale and entertainment will be the first affair on the 1935 calendar of the St. James Guild, it was decided at a meeting held last week at which business for 1934 was concluded.

First among business finished was a final payment for a new garage, recently constructed on the Guild property. A subscription of $20 defrayed the expense.

Mrs. R. E. Stagg and Mrs. B. Hawley were hostesses for the occasion.

January 16 was the date set for the food sale and program.

Local People Escape Injury In Car Crash

A number of Centerville people narrowly escaped injury Sunday night, when their car skidded in loose gravel at the side of the road near San Lorenzo junction and overturned.

Those riding in the machine were: Mr. and Mrs. J. Perry and daughter Isabel, and Mrs. Annie Marshall. The latter suffered minor bruises and abrasions.

DISTRIBUTION OF XMAS BASKETS TO NEEDY IS PLANNED

Lions Club To Help Poor Families In This District Dec. 25

Needy families in Centerville, whose table would be bare without the assistance of other citizens, will be given a real Christmas gift on the morning of December 25, when officers of the Lions Club, led by President Joe Jason, will deliver baskets of food.

A committee, named recently, is conducting a thorough investigation, to find families who are really in want. It is to these that the food will be given. Jason stated Tuesday that there will be no strings attached and that all races, colors and creeds will be considered.

The food will be distributed by Jason and the officers personally.

At a Lions directors meeting Monday night plans for the annual Christmas Jinx of the club were laid. The date chosen is December 18, at 7:00 p. m. Parish hall is the place.

VARSITY HOOPSTERS DEFEAT ALUMNI MONDAY, 22-17

Three defeats at the hands of excellent teams, was the lot of the Husker quintets last week. Regli's varsity boys redeemed themselves this week with a victory over the Washington Alumni team, 28 to 17. The B team lost to the Alumni B's, 22 to 17.

On December 6, the Class C team lost to Emeryville in a game played there. The score was 33 to 20.

Both the Class B and Varsity fives met defeat last Friday when more experienced San Jose high school teams successfully defended their home court. The B score was 27 to 16. The varsity score, 37 to 29.

Coach Jess Regli stated that his charges played good ball against a more experienced and bigger outfit. He was pleased at the Huskers showing. The San Jose teams are chosen from men who are more experienced in the fundamentals of the game.

ROSE'S SOCCERITES WALLOP CROCKETT TEAM SUNDAY

Starting early in November under the management of Manuel Rose, the Centerville Athletic Club soccer team, with four wins under its belt, added another scalp Sunday when they outbooted the Crockett team to win by a score of 5 to 1. The Centerville team has suffered only one defeat, this at the hands of the Alameda team on December 2. The score was 3 to 1.

Four games played in November ended in favor of Rose's charges by the following scores: Centerville 5, Hayward 2; Centerville 2, Iberico Club 0; Centerville 2, Sons of St. George; Centerville 6, Alvarado 0.

The starting Centerville lineup in the majority of games to date has been: Goalkeeper, John Vierra, Jr., fullbacks, Manuel Gonzalves and John Vierra; halfs; Manuel Soares, Manuel Maciel and A. Texiera; forwards; L. M. Vierra, Art Morris, J. Gonzales, J. P. Santos and L. Baptiste. Frank Costa and Manuel Rose are reserves.

Rose stated last week that he is signing up more players to bring his roster to full strength. The team is fully equipped. Black trunks and white jerseys make a clean-cut looking team on the field.

Sunday afternoon the Centervillo club will meet the DeMolay team on the Washington Union high school field.

From a standpoint of individual play, the Centerville team shows good form, but teamwork is a little ragged at times. A visible remedy would be quicker and more frequent passing by the forwards.

Following the game at Crockett Sunday, the local eleven was entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Peters, at Martinez. Mrs. Peters is a great granddaughter of the original General Martinez.

THIEVES LOOT TWO LOCAL HOMES OF JEWELS, SUIT

Investigation by authorities of two robberies in Centerville recently have to date netted little result. Clues left by the thieves were scanty.

Entering the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bauhofer, Jr., in the Hansen tract, thieves took a number of rare coins, several valuable rings and a gold watch. Bauhofer reported that he and Mrs. Bauhofer returned home at 9 o'clock Saturday evening to find the valuables gone.

On the same evening Floyd Dickerson reported that a thief had smashed a plane of glass in a door, entered and had taken a suit of clothes. The robberies were reported to Constable Tom Silva, who immediately investigated.

ANNUAL PLAY

Members of the Holy Ghost Sunday school will stage their annual Christmas play for the benefit of the Parish here Sunday. The performance will begin at 2:30 p. m. at the Parish hall. It will be directed by the Sisters of the Holy Family.

Canadian Thanksgiving Dinner Is OK With Bud

Bud Ruschin, McGill student, writes to his father, Louis Ruschin, that Canadian Thanksgiving dinners are quite acceptable to an American palate. Alpha Kappa Kappa, Bud's fraternity at the famous medical school, served a dinner with all the trimmings.

In telling of his work, Bud stated that he was fourth highest out of 120 in recent physiology tests. Among his companions at the school is Joe Smith, who will be remembered by football fans as a firey California quarterback of two years ago.

SPECTACULAR XMAS PAGEANT PRODUCED HERE LAST NIGHT

100 In Cast of "Gloria" At Washington High School Auditorium

Staged before a capacity house at the Washingon Union High school last night, "Gloria," a Christmas pageant with 100 in the cast, has evoked wide and favorable comment. The play, written by Katherine Kister, was produced by special arrangement with Samuel French. Miss Sybil Bothelho was director.

Featuring the largest number of players ever to take part in a high school production here, "Gloria" depicted the story of three who stopped on their journey to Bethlehem to render aid and perform human service. The visions of the manger under the star, of the holy family and the worshippers bearing gifts are revealed to them.

Beautifully lighted, with the several scenes blending smoothly, the play was tremendously impressive for an amateur production. The entire company was in costume.

The Vested choir, marching the length of the auditorium with lighted candles, was particularly impressive. The final scene, in which the anthem ends in the hum of an Amen as the lights fade was worthy of a professional director. The audience maintained the silence for several minutes.

Among those in the cast who had important parts were: Robert Zwissig, Doris Machado, Joseph Hernandez, Claire Musick, Eugene Ramsel, James Silva, Clifford Rogers, Leslie Calahan, Vernon Leal, Alex De Knoop, Lawrence Gonzalves, Lyle Fisher, Marylyn Maciel, Lloyd Amaral, Paul Power, Robert Kibby, Lillian Hoffman, Bernice Lezand, Peggy Munger, Emmanuel Maciel, Alton Jennings, John Cattaneo.

Special lighting equipment for the production was made in the school shops.

EUGENE DUSTERBERRY IMPROVING AFTER OPERATION

Eugene Dusterberry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dusterberry, critically ill with peritonitis at the Cowell Memorial hospital at the University of California, was reported as somewhat improved this week. His condition was considered almost hopeless late last week.

Young Dusterberry, a University of California student, was taken ill the Friday after Thanksgiving day. He returned to his work at the University in spite of his condition, and collapsed. He was operated upon at the university hospital immediately.

Council Fire Planned For Campfire Girls

Legion Xmas Party For Tots December 21

Children of veterans in Washington township will be the center of a Christmas party to be given the evening of December 21, by members of the local Legion post and the Ladies' Auxiliary Unit 195.

There will be a Christmas tree, with a gift for each child. Santa Claus will be there in person to distribute the presents. Following there will be refreshments.

The Legion Christmas party, an annual affair, brightens the lives of many youngsters in this district. Active in preparation for the event are Mrs. Geneva Smith, chairman of the committee; Mrs. Rose Vieux and Mrs. Lena Bertolotti.

SALES INCREASE NOTED AT NILES SAFEWAY STORE

An upward swing in sales is reported at the Niles Safeway store by George Bertel, new manager, who took control of the establishment recently. He attributes the rise to an addition of several important lines of goods, and the renovation and rearrangement of the store. The produce department has been expanded.

Mrs. Milton Wilder entertained members of her bridge club one evening early last week.

Mrs. Frances Luna Is Alvarado Postmaster

Appointment to fill the position vacated by the retirement and death of Albert Norris, Mrs. Frances Luna, well known Alvarado woman, was named by the post office department last week as acting postmaster at Alvarado.

Norris, who had served for many years, died two months ago. Mrs. Luna, with a host of friends in Washington township, is about her new duties.

ENTERTAIN FRIENDS

Tom and Robert Whipple, sons of Mrs. John Whipple, of Decoto, were hosts to about thirty of their friends at a party Saturday evening. Dancing was enjoyed.

it legally until his death, and then pass it on to pampered children, who generally haven't an ounce of sense or thread of justification for its possession, is to be branded as a "Red" and a menace to the land of his birth or the land he chooses as a refuge from the tyrants of royal Europe and despotic Asia.

Hearst opposed an increase in the income tax here in California and advocated the sales tax, a tax upon the poor.

He speaks not for his readers but for his millions. Tottering on the brink of the grave, yet he sees only material gain, and understands, only a multiplication table— the table that mutiplies the dollars of Hearst and other wealthy men.

* * *

'Tis a sad spectacle. But the post mortems of kings of nations, and kings of dollars have always been the same. The futility of it has dawned upon them too late. Only when the Silent Messenger has stolen away their shriveled souls have they realized that money and worldly power can not be transferred to the pearly gates to bribe St. Peter to let them in.

IT HOLDS THE SPOT LIGHT

One sensation after another marks the path of Lamson, whom a jury a year ago said killed his wife with a section of gas pipe, and must die, for the mark of Cain was upon him.

After a year in San Quentin, occupying a cell in death row, the supreme court granted him a new trial, and he was returned to the San Jose jail to await rearraignment.

Members of the supreme court were reported to have said to newspaper reporters that while they felt the legal points of the law justified a new trial for Lamson, yet they believed the man guilty. Now that sounds like contempt of their own court. If a newspaper man had printed such a story, expressed as the editor's opinion, it is likely the indiscreet editor would have been haled before the judges and fined or jailed or probably paid the penalty with both.

It was very poor taste, it not an infringement of the code. "But the king can do no wrong," also, neither a judge, seems to be the assumption of the judiciary of California.

Of course our opinion has no weight and cannot be placed along side of that expounded by even the least of those who wear the judicial ermine, and what we may write here withers into nothingness; yet we make bold to express the belief that the judge commenting upon the innocence or guilt of a man who may be tried again for murder before his court directly or even on an appeal through briefs, should resign from office as temperamentally unfit to sit upon the bench.

So one sensation after another claims the spot light for Lamson and his alleged crime. Now his mother meets death in an accident, and the drama continues. The sister is still left to defend the man, if needs be, against the world. Whatever may be our opinion of this noted or notorious case, we respect Dr. Margaret Lamson, sister of the accused. She is giving her time and her fortune to save her own blood from the hangman's noose.

A fusilade of propaganda in which, sad to relate the clergy participated, had as its object the dismissal of the case against Lamson and his immediate freedom. Fortunately, according to our belief, Santa Clara county has a district attorney who is not carried away either by sisterly devotion or senseless hysteria, and opposed successfully the dismissal of the indictment against the ex-Stanford graduate and intimate of faculty members.

The trial will go on, and may justice at last prevail.

ONE RUN MARGIN WINS SUNDAY FOR NILES

The third time proved to have no charm for the Oakland Black Sox, Oakland colored team, Sunday, when the Niles C of C's won the third straight game from the dusky nine at Niles by a score of 8 to 7. Niles won both previous games.

Pulling the game out of the fire in the ninth frame with a two-run spurt, Niles turned the tide after trailing for two innings. Previous Niles scores came in the fourth inning when Mederios' double and Rose's home run scored five runs. Tony Duarte connected for another homer in the seventh to bring the Niles total to six.

Bob Silva, starting on the mound for Niles, allowed five hits and two runs. He was relieved in the fourth by Ray Duarte, who gave five hits and five runs for the remainder of the contest.

The game was played at Niles, after the Sox sent word that no diamond was available in Oakland.

Next Sunday, the local nine will start a three game series with Pleasanton. The Niles grammar school diamond will be the place.

MORTGAGE IS BURNED AT COUNTRY CLUB TEA LAST WEEK

More than a hundred members, past and present, attended the Birthday Tea at the Country Club on Tuesday, December 4.

The assembly room and tea tables were beautifully decorated in the gay December colors. The fire place formed the back-ground for the setting in which pictures of the Past ,Present and Future were shown. Mrs. Barton Webb, in a gown worn by Mrs. Mary C. Allen, first president of the club, represented the past. During the picture, Mrs. Howard F. Chadbourne gave an effective reading of Cardinal Newman's "In Memoriam" with a musical accompaniment by Mrs. R. L. Pond. Mrs. F. T. Dusterberry represented the Present, burning the mortgage of the Club House and consigning to the flame anything that might mar the spirit of friendliness which the club has chosen for the key note of the year's work. Little Miss Rebecca Jane Robinson, Miss Barbara Snow, and David McWhirter gave an attractive glimpse in to the future.

One of the highlights of the afternoon was an interesting talk of the physcology of emotional control by Dr. Ethel Sabin Smith, of Mills College. The brilliancy of Dr. Smith's short talk and the charm of her personality will not be forgotten.

The other highlight was a group of beautiful tenor solos contributed to the program by a talented musician of the township, accompanied by Henri E. Salz.

A Birthday March, into which her fingers seemed to put much of the cleverness and efficiency which have marked her many years of service to the Club, was played by Mrs. A. B. Haley. Mrs. Franklin Brown and Mrs. Thomas Maloney carried two large, decorated cakes to the table where were seated the guests of honor, the charter members and the past presidents. Mrs. F. T. Dusterberry presided over the tea table in her own charming manner.

Mrs. F. O. Bunting and Mrs. J. E. Thane told the history of the club in which the past presidents and charter members played a most important part. Mrs. E. B. Hodges responded gracefully to a toast to our club. Mrs. Josephine Brown gave a toast to Mrs. J. E. Townsend who is leaving for her new home after the holidays.

Tea was served by the hostesses: Mrs. E. A. Ellsworth, Mrs. A. A. Hatch, Mrs. Lewis Adams, The program and music committee members, Mrs. E. D. Bristow, Mrs. W. L. McWhirter, Mrs. Franklin Brown, Mrs. E. B. Hodges, Mrs. H. Kibby, Mrs. J. C. Shinn, Ms. Thos. Maloney and Mrs. George Coit

Next meeting; January 8. Speaker: Dr. T. W. McQuarrie, of San Jose State College.

Mrs. J. Zwissig and Mrs. Franklin spent Saturday on a shopping trip in Oakland.

Mrs. Maude Sneden, of Oakland, spent a day early last week with Niles friends.

Did you ever stop to think?

By Edson R. Waite

Money spent at home helps you and your city. Money spent away from home helps some other city. This habit of sending away to distant points for printing that you can get at home is becoming too common. I quote an editorial from the Penang Gazette and Straits Chronicle, which should be read carefully by every businessman. The editor says:

"We have received an interesting little booklet issued by Messrs. Mansfield & Company, Ltd. The booklet is a mine of information and gives details not only for traveling to and from Europe but of local leave and extended holiday trips which can be made by vessels of companies for which the firm act as agents. We were particularly glad to note in the foreword the following mention of Penang:

" 'The firm of Mansfield & Co., Ltd., was founded in Singapore in 1868, with branches in Sandakan and Penang. Although the Sandakan branch is no longer in existence, that at Penang continues to grow in importance.'

"And just one word of complaint. Why was it considered necessary to send to Europe for the production of the booklet? It is a neat affair, but there is nothing in it beyond the ability of Malayan firms to produce.

" 'Spend in Malaya First' would be a good motto for those of us who earn our daily bread in this country."

Do they Borrow

Your Collection Of Circular Letters?

HAVE YOUR neighbors ever dropped into your home to borrow the weekly collection of circular letters that the users think are as good as advertising in a country newspaper?

Few people realize the actual coverage of even the modest country newspaper. Not long ago an advertising expert is quoted as saying that careful research had ascertained that a certain well known metropolitan paper is read, an average, for the space of twenty minutes, while the average country newspaper has a "reading life" of three hours to its credit! It is kept around the house for a week and everyone in the family takes his turn in going through its pages. And its readers are really increased for the reason that oftentimes the paper is borrowed by those not fortunate to be a subscriber.

There is nothing in the way of an advertising medium that circulates in Washington Township that is as persistently read and digested as regularly and thoroughly as the Township Register.

TOWNSEND PLAN IS OUTLINED TO NILES CIVIC GROUP MONDAY

Old Age Pension Will Solve Unemployment Problem, Report

An outline of the Townsend Old Age Pension plan, and the economic factors that make it necessary today were the subject of a vivid address Monday before the Niles Chamber of Commerce. The speaker was Glenn H. Hudson, of Oakland, active in efforts to bring the plan to reality.

Stating that the plan was primarily drawn to restore purchasing power and do away with unemployment, Hudson told the group that the sixty-year-old pensioners were merely a channel whereby the wealth of the nation would be set in circulation. He pointed out that 10,380,000 persons in the country spending $200 a month, would create over twenty-four billion dollars annually in transactions. The removal of eight million people over sixty, now either wholly or partially employed by industry in the country, will open that many jobs to younger people now on charity

Hudson told how the seniority plan in industry today weeds out the younger men, citing as an example that 40,000 of the 75,000 railroad engineers on duty at present are over sixty years of age. He pointed out the staggering cost of charity, and explained how the Townsend plan would do away with the major part of such expenditure.

In telling of the national income of ninety billion dollars in 1928, Hudson stated that income tax returns showed that seventeen billions of that amount had been held by only a few hundred men. He declared that a more sensible distribution of the national income was a certainty under the plan he advocates.

In answer to questions the speaker told that to qualify for the pension, a person must be an American citizen, either born, or for twenty years naturalized; he must be sixty years of age or over, have a record free from habitual criminality, and swear to spend all of the $200 within the United States within thirty days after receiving it. Hudson said the pension, if passed, would not be compulsory.

Already twenty-four million names have been secured on petitions asking the plan, and it will be brought before congress at the next session, Hudson said.

Previous to the main address, Chamber President Jones appointed A. J. Petsche, George Bonde and Harvey Braun as a committee to prepare and light the town Christmas tree this year.

W. B. Kirk, member of the committee on street improvement, told that the Southern Pacific railroad company looks with favor on the proposal to remove the fence on First street and replace it wtih a hedge. The committee is working on details in connection with the planting, and investigating the possibility of securing SERA workmen to do the task.

E. Dixon Bristow, Men's Club president, told the group that the annual Christmas jinx will be this evening at the Veterans' Memorial building in Niles. He urged attendance, stating that the program will be outstanding.

WINNERS IN BREAD ESSAY CONTEST GET AWARDS LAST WEEK

Washington High School Students Receive 13 Cash Prizes

Irma Hodges was announced the winner of the first prize in the 500-word essay contest recently concluded at the Washington Union High school on the subject: "Bread is the Staff of Life." She was presented with $7.50 cash at the school assembly last Friday morning by Donald E. Lewis, of Oakland, donated by A. Nieto, Hayward baker.

Other awards were made as follows: Bob Ziegler, second prize, $5; Yoshimi Kawaguchi, third prize, $4; Gwendolyn Millet, fourth prize, $3; Yoshio Tomimatsu, fifth prize, $2.50; and $1 to Paul Power, Birdie Morris, Anna Shinn, Margaret Ashton, Patsy Barton, Emanuel Maciel, Robert Hodges and Iwao Egashira.

Miss Hodges, in her essay, proves the importance of bread by tracing its development through history. In part she says:

"There are many interesting superstitions regarding bread. In the early days of England, a crust of bread was placed under the baby's first pillow to guard against evil spirits. The Scandinavian peasants believe that a boy and girl eating from the same loaf of bread are bound to fall in love.

"Far back in the Stone Age, the earliest age that we know anything about, the people used to make bread. We know this because hard little burned cakes have been found in their caves, with crude implements for crushing grain. These cakes were small, hard and gritty with ashes; not much like the crusty, brown loaves of bread, soft and white within, that we have today. The people who lived 5000 years ago, the Greeks and Romans, all had public bakeries."

Judges of the contest were Miss G. I. Knoles, head of the English department, Washington Union High school; Donald E. Lewis, representing the D. E. Lewis Company, of Oakland; and Paul Donovan, news editor of the Township Register.

CHEVALIER SINGS IN "MERRY WIDOW" AT HAYWARD SHOW

United Artists' great spectacle, "The Count of Monte Cristo," starring Elissa Landi and Robert Donat, ends its three-day run at the Hayward theater tonight. On the same bill is "Ice Floe."

Tomorrow and Saturday nights the main attraction will be "British Agent" the story of revolutionary Russia, with Kay Francis and Leslie Howard. Barbara Stanwyck and Richardo Cortez are on the bill in "A Lost Lady."

"Peck's Bad Boy" with Jackie Cooper and Jackie Searle, and Joan Blondell and Glenda Farrell in "Kansas City Princess" are the features for Sunday and Monday.

George Arliss comes for two days—Tuesday and Wednesday—in "The Last Gentleman." "Firebird" with Vera Teasdale and Richardo Cortez is on the bill.

"The Merry Widow," that delightful play with music known the world over, comes for three days, beginning Thursday, December 20. Jeanette MacDonald and Maurice Chevalier are the players.

Principal's Xmas Dinner Purloined

Principal A. B. Peacock, of the Decoto Grammar school, is this week casting around for the main course of his Chirstmas dinner after an unscrupulous thief stole two turkeys the principal was fattening for the holidays.

Left in the yard when the Peacocks left their home for the week-end, the brace of gobblers were missing when they returned. Constable O. W. Ebright was called to investigate.

Possibly with an eye to completing their Christmas menu, thieves smashed a window at the Ramos store in Decoto Sunday night. They had apparently intended to seize several bottles of wine on display, but in some way were frightened from the scene.
